46 Pound Pumpkin

Sam Megginson has been growing pumpkins for many years but this year a pumpkin vine in his garden, near Megginson's Store, Rt. 1, really outdid itself with this golden yellow 46 pounder. It's 57 inches in circumference, Mr. Megginson says that only this one pumpkin matured on the vine; that all of the others dropped off. He and Mrs. Megginson plan to save it for Thanksgiving so that all eight of their children will have enough pumpkin to make pies. What kind of pie is Mr. Megginson's favorite? Not cherry - chocolate - lemon - or pumpkin. He likes sweet potato pie the best.

Japan - 1st Billion Dollar Off-Shore Customer

Virginia residents are well aware that U.S.-Japanese trade is extensive, James S. Gillespie, Chairman of the Virginia State Agricultural Information and Conservation (ASC) Committee, commented recently.

"Almost everyone recognizes that Americans are important customers for Japanese goods. I wonder how many of us realize that the Japanese are major customers for American farm commodities.

"In fact, Japan imports more U. S. agricultural products than any other country in the world– a record $1.1 billion worth during the 1970 fiscal year," Mr. Gillespie said.

He pointed out that feed grains, soybeans, wheat, cotton, and tobacco are important farm crops in Virginia and that exports of these farm products to Japan have gone up dramatically in recent years.

More than six million tons of feed grains were shipped to Japan last fiscal year – just about one-third of U.S. feed grain exports. Soybean exports to Japan had a 251 million dollar value, and wheat exports $96 million. Japan is our best cotton customer, taking one-fourth of its cotton from the U. S. during the last fiscal year.

Secretary Hardin also said: "The Japanese economy has paralleled that nation's growth in trade. In the years between 1960 and 1965, Japanese shipments in world trade more than doubled. By 1969, they had a most doubled again, reaching $16 billion. Shipments to the United States increased in those nine years by more than four times –$4.3 billion.

"The Japanese householder's disposable income has more than tripled since 1960. His demand for meat, milk, and eggs – a good 'horseback' measure of consumer prosperity – has increased by more than four times in 15 years.

"It is this principle that led Japan to look to efficient producers on the broad farmlands for the feed grains needed to satisfy its people's rising demand for livestock products.

In closing, Agriculture Secretary Hardin gave special recognition to the trade organizations for the three commodities which last year accounted for two-thirds of total U.S agricultural exports to Japan – feed grains, soybeans, and wheat.

At a luncheon sponsored by the National Grain and Feed Association, Washington, D.C. September 15, 1970.

O'Brien On "Dr's For Abbitt" Committee

Petersburg – A "Physicians for Abbitt" Committee was formally announced today in a further enlargement of the campaign organization of Representative Watkins M. Abbitt.

The committee, representing all sections of the Fourth District, is headed by Dr. Fletcher J. Wright, Jr. who is also Vice Mayor of Petersburg.

Wright said his committee is already functioning and " is enthusiastically supporting the re - election of Watt Abbitt, whom we admire and commend to the voters of the Fourth District". He said the physicians' group will work "collectively and individually" in their localities and on a district - wide basis to promote the Abbitt candidacy.

The Petersburg Abbitt headquarters welcomed the organization of the physicians' committee and State Senator William V. Rawlings, of Capron, Abbitt's campaign manager, said other groups of this kind are now being formed and will be announced later.

Wright said he believes "the vast majority of doctors in the Fourth District support Abbitt and added that the Congressman" stands for a philosophy of government to which many of us adhere". He said Abbitt's record over the past 22 years has demonstrated "that he knows what the District needs and looks for in its representation in Washington."

"Doctors are aware that substantive legislation is best influenced by those who have long experience in legislative techniques, Congressman Abbitt is now the senior member of Virginia's delegation in Congress

RELAXES BAN ON VISITING

Dr. Milton H. Kibbe, Superintendent, Central State Hospital, Petersburg, announces that the ban on visiting in the Children's Area of the Hospital has been partially relaxed. Effective Mon., Sept. 21, the immediate family (adults only) may visit patients in the Children's Area.

The previous ban on visiting Aug. 21, 1970, was one of the major precautions established to minimize the possibility of spread of Hepatitis. The relaxation of the ban is possible because the hospital has had no new cases of Hepatitis since Sept. 1. In all since the first case was diagnosed on Aug. 17 and his experience and overall standing in the House make him a valuable asset for our District. This experience could only be assured through long and diligent service", he concluded.

Members of the "physicians for Abbitt" Committee include Dr. C. G. O'Brien, M. D., Appomattox, Virginia.

MISS WILLIAMS SPEAKS FOR BOND ISSUE

Miss Flora Belle Williams of Pamplin, is adding her voice to that of many county leaders in support of the November 3 bond referendum authorizing the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors to issue $2 million in bonds to build a new central high school. Miss Williams is a retired teacher and school principal.

She says she can speak from personal experience (many, many of them) in trying to teach under crowded conditions. Miss Williams taught for many years in the Appomattox County High School building on Church Street used then for both elementary and high school grades. "One time I had 52 pupils", she explained, "and in crowded conditions you cannot do your best work."

The building of the Elementary School relieved crowding for a while (Miss Williams was principal for eight years until her retirement), but now the high school is running over once more.

She speaks from her many years of teaching and supervision in saying, "Our children ought to have the best education possible."

She says that in return for her "yes" vote on the bonds she "expects the boys and girls in school to cooperate with their teachers and study so that they can promote their potentialities to the best of their ability."

She speaks usually of boys and girls as "citizens of tomorrow who will run our county, state

Be Quick & Be Tough!

"Be quick and be tough!" Coach Stanley Thomas (at left) tells the Jayvees of Appomattox County High School, and that advice plus hours of hard drill and practice have earned the team two victories so far in the season, the first against Nelson and the second against Rustburg last Thursday (14-0). In two weeks, Thursday, Oct. 8 Jayvees will meet William Campbell at Naruna and try for a third win. Practice sessions like the one above are an every-day thing Monday-Thursday of each week until the season ends.

Landowners And Youth Plant Trees

Approximately 917 idle acres in Appomattox County were planted with 733,500 pine seedlings this spring by 37 local landowners participating in a matching free seedling program sponsored by Westvaco Corporation, the Virginia Division of Forestry and other public conservation agencies. Of this total, youth groups received 45,000 free pines without the matching purchase requirement.

Bruce Stevens, Westvaco Forester for this area, made the announcement based on information from Mr. George Dean, State Forester, Virginia Division of Forestry, where Westvaco buys seedlings for the program.

Approximately 5,032 acres in the county have been planted with pines through the Westvaco program since it was started several years ago, Westvaco purchases pulpwood in this area, and encourages multiple-use forest management and reforestation practices that will help assure a continuous supply of wood and improve environment for air, water, wildlife and recreation.

Westvaco's reforestation programs this year in the area of its woodlands and mills total free to landowners, 6.8 million seedlings bought by landowners in matching programs and 11.8 million seedlings planted on company lands.

The Virginia Extension Service, Soil and Water Conservation Districts, the U. S. Agricultural Stabilization Service and its County ACP Committees all cooperate with Westvaco and the Virginia Division of Forestry in this reforestation effort.
